

Williamsburg Fieldtrip

This week I took my boys to Colonial Williamsburg. I found a scavenger hunt on Google & we took that with us. We had to look at the shop signs & read the placards outside the buildings to find our answers. They even had to go to the bakery to ask what was the common name of a “Shrewsbury Cake”. When Brady found out it was a sugar cookie he was even rewarded with a cookie for his keen hunting.

This was my personal favorite! Just where I want them. It is much easier to keep track of the boys when they are in the stocks!

The boys helped a farmer plant cabbage seeds in a small garden. They had to draw water from a well and carry it to a large water tub. After just one trip they decided they had had enough of that task.
